NO. 12.

A Timely Warning And Bit of Advice.

A local physician submits the following valuable article for the consideration of those interested in good health: "The most of the thinking people of Clay City fear an epidemic of typhoid fever soon as warm weather comes. Taking the surroundings and everything into consideration, the prospect for such a dire calamity is good, unless something is done to prevent it. We believe that this can be done if our good people will take it in hand and clean up around their premises, burn up all of the old rubbish and keep their back premises clean, and sprinkle lime, carbolic acid or some other good disinfectant around. Unless this is done soon, Mr. fly, one of the most dread disease carriers will fix things just right. He is germinated in filth but will not stay in it. He will dash himself up with all kinds of filth and then spread his gaudy wings and sail away and light on your table and walk over the food that you eat, and of course, in a few days, you are down with typhoid fever.

Mr. fly has done his work silently, and perhaps you lay it to bad water or something else. Of course contaminated water often causes fever; also, contaminated ice.

The typhoid germ is taken into the alimentary canal in what we eat and drink. If we would boil all the liquid we drink, and thoroughly cook all of the food we eat, Mr. germ will be killed.

Let our "City Fathers" see that everybody cleans up, and especially the back premises. We learn some are in fearful condition, and should be looked after at once. Our board of health or Chief of Police should compel every one to comply with the ordinance bearing on this subject.

The Farm The Best.

An exchange very truthfully says: "The only business that can stand the test of time and circumstances is ownership of a free and clear farm. A man may work at a manufacturing business half of his life time and suddenly a better invention may shut up his works. A man may spend his life as a merchant, local misfortune beyond his control may put him through the bankruptcy court. A man may work as an employee of a business half a lifetime and be a competent, faithful servant to his employer, and suddenly he is "fired", because his company has consolidated with another. The owner of a clear farm is unassassable. He may not have all the luxuries of life but he is dead sure to obtain the necessities and he cannot be discharged or ruined.

John W. Douglas, of Owen county, who has been mentioned as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Superintendent of Public Instruction, has declined to make the race.

My Choice Paper.

Amid the pile of papers
That swamp my desk each day,
And drives me weak with clipping
And flinging stuff away,
Comes once week-on Friday,

That quaint old four-page sheet

That's printed out in Clay City,

Not a drowsy county seat.

You see 'twas near Clay City,
That first I saw the light,
And—well my heart grows softer,
And I feel my eyes shine bright:
Right reverent the touch is

That spreads the columns wide:

The local's what I'm seeking,

Not a patented inside.

Ah, here it is, "The County"

And "Jottings," "Local News,"

You learn who's traded horses

And who have rented farms

It tells about the schoolhouse,

Where we used to sit and dream

A watching dust specks dancing

In the sunlight's shifty beam.

Oh, tollers in life's workshops,

Are not those dreamyists sweet

Which memory casts about us?

When past and present meet?

And so I love that paper

From the village in the hills,

For the old life that it wakens,

For the weariness it stills.

COUNTRY JAKE.

Saloon-Keeper Held Responsible.

A widow in Nebraska sued a saloon-keeper for damages because her husband was thrown from a buggy and killed as a result of getting drunk at the saloon. The court held that he was liable, says an exchange.

We are satisfied that the right way to deal with the traffic in states where it is impossible to carry a prohibitory law is to make the saloon-keeper responsible for all damages resulting from his business, either directly or indirectly, and to compel every man who wishes to engage in the business to give security that any damages awarded against him will be paid. This need not exclude any really competent man from the business, for the brewers and distillers, who back the saloon-keepers, could easily furnish the security.

It is absurd to allow men to engage in a business that is undeniably dangerous without compelling them to indemnify all persons who are injured by their recklessness in conducting it.

The only ground on which any sensible man can justify the existence of saloons is that their business is not necessarily harmful. The argument put forward in their defense is that liquor is not commonly injurious if taken in moderation. Then let the saloon man be required to see that his business is carried on within safe lines, and let him be held responsible when he goes beyond these lines—just as a dealer in explosives would be held responsible if he should violate the law which restricts the quantity of any explosive he may keep in stock.

We believe that the habitual use of liquor of any kind, even in moderation, is always injurious, and we would therefore be glad to see the whole business abolished; but where that can not be done we are sure that effective civil damage laws would do more than any restrictive regulations to diminish the evils resulting from that business. And we believe that many persons could be induced to vote for such legislation, who, on account of an exaggerated idea of personal rights, will never vote for prohibition, looking upon it as an improper restriction of personal liberty.

Grip Remedies in Great Demand.

When colds and grip are prevalent the quickest and surest remedies are in great demand. Mr. Joseph D. Williams, of McDowell, Va., says that he was cured of a very deep and lasting attack of la grippe by using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy after trying several other preparations with no effect. For sale by all dealers in patent medicine.

At Paris, Clyde Keller, one of the guards of the small-pox suspects shot and killed Weaver while the latter was making his escape. Keller has been arrested.

Danger of Colds and Grip.

The danger from colds and grip is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for this disease we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventive of that dangerous disease. It will cure a cold or an attack of the grip in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by all dealers in patent medicine.

SEVERE ATTACK OF GRIP

Cured by One Bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"When I had an attack of the grip last winter (the second one) I naturally cured myself with one bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says Frank W. Perry, editor of the Enterprise, Shortsville, N. Y. "This is the honest truth. I at times kept from coughing myself to pieces by taking a teaspoonful of this remedy, and when the coughing spell would come on at night I would take a dose and it seemed that in the briefest interval the cough would pass off and I would go to sleep perfectly free from cough and its accompanying pains. To say that the remedy acted as a most agreeable surprise is putting it very mildly. I had no idea that it would or could knock out the grip, simply because I had never tried it for such purpose, but it did, and it seemed with the second attack of coughing the remedy caused it to not only be of less duration, but the pains were far less severe, and I had not used the contents of one bottle before Mr. Grip had bid me adieu." For sale by all dealers in patent medicine.

Stimulates a natural, healthy growth, removing inflammation and soreness.

TAROLEUM will mix with water in all proportions, consequently does not exclude the natural moisture from the foot. This will be appreciated by thoughtful horsemen.

AS A DRESSING—Paint the foot all over twice a day, and polish with a brush if you want the shine.

HOOF PACKING—Wet up a sufficient quantity of Oil-Meal with one part of TAROLEUM to six parts of water and bind on the feet. This packing will soften hard, contracted feet quickly, removing the inflammation and soreness.

TAROLEUM, Boston, Mass., June 21, 1902.

W. F. YOUNG, Eq.,

Dear Friends—We use your TAROLEUM and can recommend it to all horsemen as a first-class hoof-dressing.

MRS. L. S. ADAMS.
of Galveston, Texas.

"Wine of Cardui is indeed a blessing to tired women. Having suffered for seven years with weakness and bearing-down pains, and having tried several doctors and different remedies with no success, your Wine of Cardui was the only thing which helped me, and eventually cured me. It seemed to build up the weak parts, strengthen the system and correct irregularities."

By "tired women" Mrs. Adams means nervous women who have disordered menses, falling of the womb, ovarian troubles or any of these ailments that women have. You can cure yourself at home with this great women's remedy, Wine of Cardui. Wine of Cardui has cured thousands of cases which doctors have failed to benefit. Why not begin to get well today? All druggists have $1.00 bottles. For any stomach, liver or bowel disorder Thedford's Black-Draught should be used.
